Established for over 20 years, Relocate Global sits at the intersection of the global mobility and international education communities, equipping organisations and professionals with the insight, expertise and partnerships to support globally mobile people and deliver successful organisational growth.

Think
GLOBAL PEOPLE

Sister company Think Global People explores the human side of global mobility, creating a space for insight, dialogue, visibility around international careers, education and leadership.

Together: reaching a wider global audience to connect, inspire & support

Innovative multimedia for a global audience

Global Mobility | Global Leadership | Global Education

We are your multimedia content marketing partner, combining editorial expertise, digital and events to showcase your organisation or school's voice and values on a global stage.

From insightful articles and thought-leadership features to engaging video interviews, podcasts, digital campaigns, we help you reach relocating families and those advising them, international leaders, global talent professionals, international educators, schools, and decision-makers with content that resonates.

We blend creativity with strategy, focusing on in-depth content that is knowledge-based and relevant, which inspires, informs and promotes our partners to a clearly defined audience of those living and working internationally.
